Biblical Faith Wisdom Service Community Integrity

The Trinity isn't the easiest thing for us as adults to understand at times, but explaining it to a child? Well, that seems like an insurmountable task. The main thing we want our children to understand is that God, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit are not separate and they are all equally important. So here's how we tackled that with a fun, easy Irish- themed craft:

With each heart touching in the middle, kids can see that there are three distinct parts, but they are all one leaf. To tie it all together, we added a line for a stem, representing that these three parts are ONE.
